

Meet Freyser & Amanda

We love new adventures, and have been blessed with some incredible opportunities to explore the world around us. We're excited to foster that same sense of wonder and curiosity in our child. Freyser is Costa Rican and Amanda is from South Dakota. We met volunteering in Costa Rica in 2019, and have been married since 2021. We love to be outside, whether it's kayaking, camping, walking our dog, or just sitting and enjoying the sounds of nature. We spend our time between our home in eastern South Dakota, and our vacation/rental property in the Black Hills. Amanda works full time from home as a project manager. Freyser has a 2nd degree black belt in Tang Soo Do, with plans to open his own dojang.

Family is important to both of us, and even though Freyser's family lives in Costa Rica, we communicate often. We look forward to taking family trips to see them and to them coming to visit us in the US. Amanda's family lives nearby and we spend a lot of time with them. We are an English/Spanish speaking household, and are open to incorporating other cultures into our family.

We are excited about adoption and where this path may lead. We recognize the sacrifice being made and will do everything in our power to provide the best life for the child. We welcome you to have a part in that if you are comfortable. Whatever your decision, we will respect you and your choices, and the baby will always know of the sacrifice you've made.
